

CHILD PROTECTION POLICY

JKA Shotokan Ireland

2015

1. Protection Policy

1.1 Introduction

Everyone who participates in the Karate clubs associated with JKA Shotokan Ireland is entitled to do so in an enjoyable and safe environment. The Karate clubs have a moral and legal obligation to ensure that, when given responsibility for young people, coaches and volunteers provide them with the highest possible standard of care.

The Karate clubs are committed to devising and implementing policies so that everyone in sport accepts their responsibilities to safeguard children from harm and abuse. This implies that Child Protection procedures are followed and that any concerns about the welfare of children participating in club activities are reported to appropriate authorities.

The aim of the policy is to promote good practice, providing children and young people with appropriate safety/protection whilst in the care of the Karate clubs and to allow staff and volunteers to make informed and confident responses to specific child protection issues.

A child/young person is defined as a person under the age of 18 (Children's Act 1989)

1.1 Policy Statement

The JKA Shotokan Ireland Karate Clubs are committed to the following:

1. the welfare of the child is paramount
2. all children, whatever their age, culture, ability, gender, language, racial origin, religious belief and/or sexual identity should be able to participate in Karate in a fun and safe environment
3. taking all reasonable steps to protect children from harm, discrimination and degrading treatment and to respect their rights, wishes and feelings
4. all suspicions and allegations of poor practice or abuse will be taken seriously and responded to swiftly and appropriately
5. all Karate clubs members who work with children will be recruited with regard to their suitability for that responsibility, and will be provided with guidance and/or training in good practice and child protection procedures. Additionally, they must be Garda vetted.
6. working in partnership with parents and children is essential for the protection of children

1.2 Monitor and review the policy and procedures

The implementation of procedures should be regularly monitored and reviewed. The designated person should regularly report progress, challenges, difficulties, achievements, gaps and areas where changes are required to the management committee.

The policy should be reviewed every 3 years or whenever there is a major change in the organisation or in relevant legislation.

2 Promoting Good Practice

2.1 Introduction

To provide children with the best possible experience and opportunities in Karate everyone must operate within an accepted ethical framework such as Irish Sports Council Code of Conduct and Good Practice for Children's Sport.

It is not always easy to distinguish poor practice from abuse. It is therefore NOT the responsibility of employees or participants in Karate to make judgements about whether or not abuse is taking place. It is however their responsibility to identify poor practice and possible abuse and act if they have concerns about the welfare of the child.

This section will help you identify what is meant by good practice and poor practice.

Good Practice

All personnel should adhere to the following principles and action:

- always work in an open environment (e.g. avoiding private or unobserved situations and encouraging open communication with no secrets)
- make the experience of Karate fun and enjoyable: promote fairness, confront and deal with bullying
- treat all young people equally and with respect and dignity
- always put the welfare of the young person first, before winning
- maintain a safe and appropriate distance with participants
- avoid unnecessary physical contact with young people. Where any form of manual/physical support is required it should be provided openly and with the consent of the young person. Physical contact can be appropriate so long as it is neither intrusive nor disturbing and the young person's consent has been given

- Parents are responsible for transporting their children to and from events and club training locations. The club does not partake in organising lifts.
- Parents are requested to pick children up from the dojo, not from the car park.
- Children should arrive and leave training and events in their karate suit. If a child has to get changed at an event changing room then the parents should be present with them in the dressing room or arrange for a guardian to escort them
- If child members must travel to an event away from the club (e.g. special training courses, grading examinations or competitions) then all transport and accommodation must be arranged by the parent / guardian. Instructors and club adult members do not provide supervision for such events.
- be an excellent role model.
- always give enthusiastic and constructive feedback rather than negative criticism
- recognising the developmental needs and capacity of the young person and do not risk sacrificing welfare in a desire for club or personal achievements. This means avoiding excessive training or competition and not pushing them against their will.
- keep a written record of any injury that occurs, along with details of any treatment given.
- welcome and encourage parents to observe the class at any time but request that they do not interfere or distract the class. Ideally we would like to have at least one parent sit in the hall during class purely to observe the class. This helps to ensure protection for the children and also allows the parent's to regularly see the child's progression in training.

Poor Practice

The following are regarded as poor practice and should be avoided by all personnel:

- unnecessarily spending excessive amounts of time alone with young people away from others
- taking young people alone in a car on journeys, however short
- taking young people to your home where they will be alone with you
- sharing a room with a young person
- engaging in rough, physical or sexually provocative games, including horseplay
- allow or engage in inappropriate touching of any form
- allowing young people to use inappropriate language unchallenged
- making sexually suggestive comments to a young person, even in fun
- reducing a young person to tears as a form of control
- allow allegations made by a young person to go unchallenged, unrecorded or not acted upon
- do things of a personal nature that the young person can do for themselves

When a case arises where it is impractical/impossible to avoid certain situations e.g. transporting a young person in your car, the tasks should only be carried out with the full understanding and consent of the parent/carer and the young person involved.

If during your care you accidentally hurt a young person, the young person seems distressed in any manner, appears to be sexually aroused by your actions and/or if the young person misunderstands or misinterprets something you have done, report any such incidents as soon as possible to another colleague and make a written note of it. Parents should also be informed of the incident.

3.1 Defining Child Abuse

Introduction

Child abuse is any form of physical, emotional or sexual mistreatment or lack of care that leads to injury or harm, it commonly occurs within a relationship of trust or responsibility and is an abuse of power or a breach of trust. Abuse can happen to a young person regardless of their age, gender, race or ability.

There are four main types of abuse: physical abuse, sexual abuse, emotional abuse and neglect. The abuser may be a family member, someone the young person encounters in residential care or in the community, including sports and leisure activities. Any individual may abuse or neglect a young person directly, or may be responsible for abuse because they fail to prevent another person harming the young person.

Abuse in all of its forms can affect a young person at any age. The effects can be so damaging that if not treated may follow the individual into adulthood.

Young people with disabilities may be at increased risk of abuse through various factors such as stereotyping, prejudice, discrimination, isolation and a powerlessness to protect themselves or adequately communicate that abuse had occurred.

3.2 Types of Abuse

Physical Abuse: where adults physically hurt or injure a young person e.g. hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning, biting, scalding, suffocating, and drowning. Giving young people alcohol or inappropriate drugs would also constitute child abuse.

This category of abuse can also include when a parent/carer reports non-existent symptoms or illness or deliberately causes ill health in a young person they are looking after. This is called Munchausen's syndrome by proxy.

In a sports situation, physical abuse may occur when the nature and intensity of training disregards the capacity of the child's immature and growing body.

Emotional Abuse: the persistent emotional ill treatment of a young person is likely to cause severe and lasting adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve telling a young person they are useless, worthless, unloved, inadequate or valued in terms of only meeting the needs of another person. It may feature expectations of young people that are not appropriate to their age or development. It may cause a young person to be frightened or in danger by being constantly shouted at, threatened or taunted which may make the young person frightened or withdrawn.

Ill treatment of children, whatever form it takes, will always feature a degree of emotional abuse.

Emotional abuse in sport may occur when the young person is constantly criticised, given negative feedback, expected to perform at levels that are above their capability. Other forms of emotional abuse could take the form of name calling and bullying.

Bullying may come from another young person or an adult. Bullying is defined as deliberate hurtful behaviour, usually repeated over a period of time, where it is difficult for those bullied to defend themselves. There are three main types of bullying.

It may be physical (e.g. hitting, kicking, slapping), verbal (e.g. racist or homophobic remarks, name calling, graffiti, threats, abusive text messages), emotional (e.g. tormenting, ridiculing, humiliating, ignoring, isolating from the group), or sexual (e.g. unwanted physical contact or abusive comments).

In sport bullying may arise when a parent or coach pushes the young person too hard to succeed, or a rival athlete or official uses bullying behaviour.

Neglect occurs when an adult fails to meet the young person's basic physical and/or psychological needs, to an extent that is likely to result in serious impairment of the child's health or development. For example, failing to provide adequate food, shelter and clothing, failing to protect from physical harm or danger, or failing to ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment.

Refusal to give love, affection and attention can also be a form of neglect.

Neglect in sport could occur when a coach does not keep the young person safe, or exposing them to undue cold/heat or unnecessary risk of injury.

Sexual Abuse occurs when adults (male and female) use children to meet their own sexual needs. This could include full sexual intercourse, masturbation, oral sex, anal intercourse and fondling. Showing young people pornography or talking to them in a sexually explicit manner are also forms of sexual abuse.

In sport, activities which might involve physical contact with young people could potentially create situations where sexual abuse may go unnoticed. Also the power of the coach over young athletes, if misused, may lead to abusive situations developing.

3.3 Indicators of Abuse

Even for those experienced in working with child abuse, it is not always easy to recognise a situation where abuse may occur or has already taken place. Most people are not experts in such recognition, but indications that a child is being abused may include one or more of the following:

- unexplained or suspicious injuries such as bruising, cuts or burns, particularly if situated on a part of the body not normally prone to such injuries

- an injury for which an explanation seems inconsistent

- the young person describes what appears to be an abusive act involving them
- another young person or adult expresses concern about the welfare of a young person
- unexplained changes in a young person's behaviour e.g. becoming very upset, quiet, withdrawn or displaying sudden outbursts of temper
- inappropriate sexual awareness
- engaging in sexually explicit behaviour
- distrust of adults, particularly those with whom a close relationship would normally be expected
- difficulty in making friends
- being prevented from socialising with others
- displaying variations in eating patterns including over eating or loss of appetite
- losing weight for no apparent reason
- becoming increasingly dirty or unkempt

Signs of bullying include:

- behavioural changes such as reduced concentration and/or becoming withdrawn, clingy, depressed, tearful, emotionally up and down, reluctant to go to training or competitions
- an unexplained drop off in performance
- physical signs such as stomach aches, headaches, difficulty in sleeping, bed wetting, scratching and bruising, damaged clothes, bingeing e.g. on food, alcohol or cigarettes
- a shortage of money or frequent loss of possessions

It must be recognised that the above list is not exhaustive, but also that the presence of one or more of the indications is not proof that abuse is taking place. It is NOT the responsibility of those working within the clubs of JKA Shotokan Ireland to decide that child abuse is occurring. It IS their responsibility to act on any concerns.

3.4 Use of Photographic/Filming Equipment at Sporting Events

There is evidence that some people have used sporting events as an opportunity to take inappropriate photographs or film footage of young people. All clubs should be vigilant and any concerns should be reported to the Child Protection Officer/Designated Person.

Photography/video/camera phones are not allowed at normal weekly club training sessions.

Photography/video is allowed at events such as grading, demonstration or competitions or to celebrate achievements by students.

Where a parent does not wish their child to be photographed/videoed it is the parent's responsibility to remain present at the event to supervise their child.

Photos on the official club/JKA-SI website or official club facebook page should not associate children's names with photos and vice versa.

External events, competitions and public events are outside the control of the club/JKA-SI and parents should investigate and be aware if there is photography policy in use at the event and satisfy themselves that they wish for their child to attend.

3.5 Use of Mobile Phones

Parents/guardians and emergency contact phone numbers only should be held by the club instructors and anyone involved in running the club.

Group text and email is the preferred form of communication to members.

Updates may be posted on the club facebook page but communication via social media is generally discouraged.

4 Responding to Suspicions and Allegations

4.1 Introduction

It is not the responsibility of anyone working in the Karate clubs in a paid or unpaid capacity to decide whether or not child abuse has taken place. However there is a responsibility to act on any concerns through contact with the appropriate authorities so that they can then make inquiries and take necessary action to protect the young person. This applies BOTH to allegations/suspicions of abuse occurring within the Karate clubs and to allegations/suspicions that abuse is taking place elsewhere.

This section explains how to respond to allegations/suspicions.

4.2 Club Children's Officer and Designated Person

It is desirable that each club has at least one Club Children's Officer. This should typically be an adult club member or a parent of a club member.

In the absence of an adult member or parent volunteer the Club Instructor will act as the Club's Children's Officer.

All members and parents should be notified who the Clubs Children's officer is and that they may approach the Children's Officer with any questions or concerns they may have.

Every club/organisation should also have a Designated Person to be responsible for dealing with any concerns about the protection of children. The designated person is responsible for reporting allegations or suspicions of child abuse to Health Services Executive and/or An Garda Síochána. However, if there is difficulty identifying a separate individual to take this role, JKA Shotokan Ireland Child Protection officer will take on this role. All members and parents should also be notified of the contact details of the Designated Person.

4.3 Receiving Evidence of Possible Abuse

We may become aware of possible abuse in various ways. We may see it happening, we may suspect it happening because of signs such as those listed in section 3 of this document, it may be reported to us by someone else or directly by the young person affected.

In the last of these cases, it is particularly important to respond appropriately. If a young person says or indicates that they are being abused, you should:

-stay calm so as not to frighten the young person

-reassure the child that they are not to blame and that it was right to tell

-listen to the child, showing that you are taking them seriously

-Keep questions to a minimum so that there is a clear and accurate understanding of what has been said. The law is very strict and child abuse cases have been dismissed where it is felt that the child has been led or words and ideas have been suggested during questioning. Only ask questions to clarify

-Inform the child that you have to inform other people about what they have told you. Tell the child this is to help stop the abuse continuing.

-Safety of the child is paramount. If the child needs urgent medical attention call an ambulance, inform the doctors of the concern and ensure they are made aware that this is a child protection issue

-record all information

-report the incident to the child protection officer/designated person. If the child is in immediate danger of abuse go directly to TUSLA or the Gardaí.

4.4 Recording Information

To ensure that information is as helpful as possible, a detailed record should always be made at the time of the disclosure/concern. In recording you should confine yourself to the facts and distinguish what is your personal knowledge and what others have told you. Do not include your own opinions.

Information should include the following:

-the child's name, age and date of birth

-the child's home address and telephone number

-whether or not the person making the report is expressing their concern or someone else's

-the nature of the allegation, including dates, times and any other relevant information

-a description of any visible bruising or injury, location, size etc. Also any indirect signs, such as behavioural changes

-details of witnesses to the incidents

-the child's account, if it can be given, of what has happened and how any bruising/injuries occurred

-Have the parents been contacted? If so what has been said?

-Has anyone else been consulted? If so record details

-Has anyone been alleged to be the abuser? Record detail

4.5 Reporting the Concern

All suspicions and allegations MUST be reported appropriately. It is recognised that strong emotions can be aroused particularly in cases where sexual abuse is suspected or where there is misplaced loyalty to a colleague. It is important to understand these feelings but not allow them to interfere with your judgement about any action to take.

The Karate clubs expect its members and staff to discuss any concerns they may have about the welfare of a child immediately with the child protection officer/designated person and subsequently to check that appropriate action has been taken.

If the nominated child protection officer/designated person are not available you should take responsibility and seek advice from TUSLA (www.tusla.ie) or the gardaí. Telephone numbers can be found in your local directory.

Where there is a complaint against an employee or volunteer, there may be three types of investigation.

- 1. Criminal in which case the police are immediately involved
- 2. Child protection in which case the social services and (possibly) the gardaí will be involved
- 3. Disciplinary or misconduct in which case Karate clubs will be involved

As mentioned previously in this document the karate clubs are not child protection experts and it is not their responsibility to determine whether or not abuse has taken place. All suspicions and allegations must be shared with professional agencies that are responsible for child protection (I.E., TUSLA)

Social services have a legal responsibility under The Children Act 1989 to investigate all child protection referrals by talking to the child and family (where appropriate), gathering information from other people who know the child and making inquiries jointly with the police.

NB: If there is any doubt, you must report the incident: it may be just one of a series of other incidences which together cause concern

Any suspicion that a child has been abused by an employee or a volunteer should be reported to the Karate club's child protection officer who will take appropriate steps to ensure the safety of the child in question and any other child who may be at risk. This will include the following:

-The Karate club's child protection officer will refer the matter to the designated person who will contact TUSLA. Anyone can go directly to TUSLA with a concern.

-The parent/carer of the child will be contacted as soon as possible following advice from the social services department

-The chairperson of your organisation should be notified to decide who will deal with any media inquiries and implement any immediate disciplinary proceedings

-The designated person should also notify the relevant sport governing body

-If the Child Protection officer is the subject of the suspicion/allegation the report must be made to the designated person who will refer the matter to social services

Allegations of abuse are sometimes made sometime after the event. Where such allegation is made, you should follow the same procedures and have the matter reported to social services. This is because other children in the sport or outside it may be at risk from the alleged abuser. Anyone who has a previous conviction for offences related to abuse against children is automatically excluded from working with children.

4.6 Concerns outside the immediate Sporting Environment (e.g. a parent or carer)

-Report your concerns to the Club's Child Protection officer

-If the Child Protection officer is not available, refer to the designated person otherwise the person being told or discovering the abuse should contact their local social services department or the police immediately

-Social Services and the Child Protection officer will decide how to inform the parents/carers

-The Child Protection officer should also report the incident to the designated person who in turn informs JKA Shotokan Ireland's Governing Body. The Governing Body should ascertain whether or not the person/s involved in the incident play a role in the organisation and act accordingly

-Maintain confidentiality on a need to know basis. Never discuss individual welfare issues at a committee meeting.

4.7 Confidentiality

Every effort should be made to ensure that confidentiality is maintained for all concerned. Information should be handled and disseminated on a need to know basis only. This includes the following people:

-The Designated Person

-Club Child Protection Officer (if reported the complaint)

-The parents of the child

-The person making the allegation

-Social Services/Gardaí

- The Karate Governing Body Club Child Protection officer
- The alleged abuser (and parents if the alleged abuser is a child)

Seek social services advice on who should approach the alleged abuser.

All information should be stored in a secure place with limited access to designated people, in line with data protection laws.

4.8 Internal Inquiries and Suspension

The Karate Clubs Child Protection officer/Designated Person will make an immediate decision about whether any individual accused of abuse should be temporarily suspended pending further Gardaí and social services inquiries

Irrespective of the findings of the social services or Gardaí inquiries the Karate clubs Governing Committee will assess all individual cases to decide whether a member of staff or volunteer can be reinstated and how this can be sensitively handled. This may be a difficult decision; especially where there is insufficient evidence to uphold any action by the Gardaí. In such cases the Karate clubs Governing Committee must reach a decision based upon the available information which could suggest that on the balance of probability, it is more likely than not that the allegation is true. The welfare of the child should remain of paramount importance throughout.

5 Recruiting and Selecting Personnel with Children

5.1 Introduction

It is important that all reasonable steps are taken to prevent unsuitable people from working with children. This applies equally to paid staff and volunteers, both full and part time. To ensure unsuitable people are prevented from working with children the following steps should be taken when recruiting:

5.2 Controlling Access to Children

- All staff and volunteers should complete an application form. The application form will elicit information about the applicants past and a self disclosure about any criminal record.
- Consent should be obtained from the applicant to seek information from the Garda Vetting Unit.
- All staff in direct contact with children must be Garda vetted.

5.3 Interview and Induction

All employees and volunteers will be required to undertake an interview carried out to acceptable protocol and recommendations. All employees and volunteers should receive formal or informal induction during which:

- A check should be made that the application form has been completed in full, including sections on criminal records and self disclosures
- Their qualifications should be substantiated
- The job requirements and responsibilities should be clarified
- They should sign up to the organisation's Code of Ethics and Conduct
- Child Protection Procedures are explained and training needs identified e.g. basic child protection awareness

5.4 Training

In addition to pre-selection checks, the safeguarding process includes training after recruitment to help staff and volunteers to:

- Analyse their own practice against what is deemed good practice, and to ensure their practice is likely to protect them from false allegations

-Recognise their responsibilities and report any concerns about suspected poor practice and/or abuse

-Respond to concerns expressed by a child

-Work safely and effectively with children

JKA Shotokan Ireland requires:

-All staff and volunteers who have access to children to undergo a Garda Vetting check

-All employees, volunteers, coaches, welfare officers and team managers to undertake relevant child protection training or undertake a form of home study, to ensure their practice is exemplary and to facilitate the development of positive culture towards good practice and child protection

-All staff and volunteers to receive advisory information outlining good/bad practice and informing them what to do if they have concerns about the behaviour of an adult towards a young person

-All coaches, trainee coaches and leaders should have an up to date first aid qualification
